Detroit Emergency Fund
Reaches $4,700,000; Call
Is Made for Volunteers

At a meeting of volunteer workers for the Israel Emergency Fund, held at the headquarters of the Jewish Welfare Federation Tuesday, Paul Zuckerman, local chairman, reported that $4,700,000 was certain to be on hand by Thursday, most of this sum already having been cabled to Israel.

Zuckerman appealed for volunteer workers to call those who have not yet given—those who are waiting to be contacted to share in the important obligation.

The meeting was one held simultaneously with 123 other communities and the attendees were addressed over the long distance phone by Max M. Fisher, national United Jewish Appeal chairman, who expressed the hope that the emergency fund will conclude on July 4 with an outpouring of aid that will make the month's campaign "the most historic in Jewish history." Fisher left for Israel Wednesday.

Messages also were received at the meeting from Mrs. Harry Jones, national UJA women's division chairman, and her associates in a survey mission to Israel. She made a strong plea for extra gifts by the women.

Zuckerman announced that 40 extra telephones were installed at the Federation for use by volunteer workers who are asked to provide their assistance at once.

Mud-slinging by the combined Soviet and Arab forces at the United Nations General Assembly and Israel's defensive efforts, with the aid of the liberal forces, fortified by the United States, Denmark and other democratic nations, marked the debate at the historic session of the assembly which is expected to remain in Session for at least two weeks.

While the debates continued to create bitterness, Israel's Foreign Minister Abba Eban constantly being compelled to refute falsifications uttered by the Arab and Communist spokesmen, Israel has proceeded to provide help for refugees, to cooperate with the Red Cross and the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestinian Refugees, and to clean up the debris in the Old City of Jerusalem.

At the same time, Israel reiterates its offer for immediate direct negotiations with "any and each" of the Arab states and to strive for a lasting peace.

Abba Eban, Israel's spokesman at the UN, gave assurance that he saw prospects for an immediate solution of the refugee problem through direct peace negotiations with the Arab states.

The lifting of the ban on travel to Israel by the U. S. State Department was among the heartening news, giving assurance that the many thousands of American volunteers for civilian services in the Jewish State now will be able to join the many thousands of Christians and Jews from many lands in aiding Israel's affected economy.

Russia, however, has offered new military aid to Egypt without charge—which means that Egypt will not have to send its cotton to the USSR in exchange for weapons. Russian

Campaigns for Aid to Israel Gain New Momentum Here Ban Lifted on Travel to Israel

New momentum was gained here this week in the drives for philanthropic and investment assistance to Israel.

Paul Zuckerman, as chairman of the Israel Emergency Fund, has volunteered his entire time away from his business towards the conduct of the campaign.

The Israel Bond office reports that organizations and individuals are increasing their purchases to evidence their confidence in Israel's economic stability.

Mrs. Harry L. Jones of Detroit was a member of a United Jewish Appeal delegation to Israel assigned to study increased welfare needs there. Mrs. Jones reported in a live telephonic message to Detroiters gathered at an Israel Emergency Fund meeting on Tuesday at the Jewish Welfare Federation office on the findings of the commission which also included Edward Ginsberg of Cleveland, UJA associate general chairman; Leonard D. Bell of Lewiston, Me., UJA Young Leadership Cabinet chairman, and Irving Bernstein of New York, UJA assistant executive vice-chairman.

WASHINGTON — The state Department announced Wednesday that it has lifted restrictions on travel to Israel and four other nations.

State Department spokesman Carl Bartch said the ban, imposed on June 5 when war erupted, would no longer be in effect for Israel, Kuwait, Morocco, Saudi Arabia and Tunisia. But restrictions will remain in force for Egypt, Algeria, Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon, Libya, Sudan, Syria and Yemen.

The prohibition on travel to the nine arab nations was continued "because of conditions resulting from recent hostilities in the Near East."

Tourists and others will now be free to visit Israel without the special validation that has been required since June 5. The State Department authorized travel only for newspapermen and others with verified acceptable business reasons for going to Israel.
